KAISER IN COMMAND

British Army Making Steady Progress Between Ancre and Somme—Germans Preparing

London, JJuly 6.—The Kaiser is reported to have arrived on the Somme front accompanied by members of his general staff, who will direct the defense of the German lines in the great allied offensive.

An Amsterdam dispatch today reported the Kaiser's arrival and said he had established headquarters near the front and not far from Cambrai and opposite the British front.

Paris, July 6—The French have carried by assault the second German lines on a front of two kilometres (about one and a quarter miles) from the Clery-Maricourt road to the River Somme. They have also captured the village Hem in the same district, according to the official statement issued by the French War Office last night.

The French have captured all the German second positions south of the Somme on a front of about 10 kilometres. They have also completed the occupation of the village of Estrees, where 200 Germans surrendered.

The full force of the French offensive is again being exerted both north and south of the Somme, but principally southward. In this direction the French are now in the outskirts of Poronne, the great railway centre, which is their first objective in their effort to cut the German communications.

Sermont Farm, taken by the French is only two miles from Peronne and adjoins its suburban houses. The importance which the Germans attach to this point is shown in their fierce counter attacks Tuesday night, when they rushed the French lines back to the village of Belloy-en Santerre, which they momentarily held. This village lies between Asseverlers and Estrees, both held by the French, so that the German rush temporarily made a dent in the French advance. This dent was quickly straightened out when fierce hand to hand fighting placed the town again in French hands.

The number of German prisoners taken is now close to 10,000, while the extent of the munitions captured is shown in the fact that 60 guns were taken by a single army corps. Meantime the movement north of the Somme is necessarily retarded in order that the French left wing may act simultaneously with the British right wing.

The British have been facing an extremely heavy resistance and large German reinforcements were hurried forward all day Tuesday by the Cologne Cambrai Railway, which runs to the very centre of the German front attacked by the British. The stubborn resistance all along this front has prevented the British from keeping pace with the French advance to the south.

The tenacity with which the Germans are holding to their positions in the face of the British attack, particularly around Da Boisselle, while the French menace of Peronne is comparatively neglected, leads to the belief of the military authorities that the Germans are chiefly concerned in breaking the offensive even at the sacrifice of some ground to the south.

The French have now, in some places pushed through the third and last line of the German defenses as they existed before the attack began. The Germans are hastily constructing a new line, but are manifestly unable to make it as strong as the three lines perfected after 20 months labor.

London, July 6—The Reuter correspondent under date of July 4 sends the following from the Press Camp, British Army in France:

"While the battle of the Somme has already assumed the proportions of the biggest battle on th ewestern front, the maximum strength of the conflict has certainly not yet been reached. The Germans are throwing men into their resistance as fas as their means of transport will permit and, while many of these troops are reserves in the strict meaning of the term, the mass of them have been hurried from other theatres of the war, but not a single soldier from the 90 mile British front.

"Judging from the prisoners taken the enemy seems to have arrived at the stage when he is obliged to build up his defenses with the very dregs of his human resources."

LETTER FROM SOLDIERS

Members of Alexandria Light Infantry Spend Fourth in Mobilization Camp in Richmond

(Special to the Gazette)

Richmond, July 4—Independence Day passed without incident at Camp Stuart, save for the routine of camp life and preparations for active service.

Infrequent booming of the three inch field pieces being tried out by the Howitzers furnished the only semblance to celebration of a national holiday that met the ears of the "regulars" or those of the visitors from Richmond who went out to see the State's militia, mobilize on the Fair Grounds and waiting hourly orders to leave for the Mexican border

The guardsmen's part in the city's celebration of the Fourth was omitted entirely, none of the khaki clad troops making their appearance in the city yesterday. A truly military parade by at least one and probably both of the regiments mobilized at Camp Stuart had been announced as the big attraction of the day. Instead, Richmonders who wished to review the troops had to make the trip to the Fair Grounds by street car, and be satisfied with watching from the grandstand the squad and company drills performed on the dusty race course as part of an ordinary day's routine.

Company G. of the First Regiment—better known to readers of the Gazette as the Alexandria Light Infantry spent most of the day in quarters. Except for a few shrills of the first sergeant's whiltle, calling the men into ranks for the issuing of u nderclothes and hats, or shoes to the few men not fully equipped, the mess calls alone disturbed the men's leisure.

One detail of twenty privates and non-commissioned officers marched over to the field hospital and were vaccinated against smallpox. The balance of those who are not satisfactorily vaccinated will be treated with the serum at the next detail, probably on Wednesday.

The whole company has been innoculated for typhoid and must undergo two further injections of the same serum, at the camp here if they are held that long, or at any other point where their new duties take them.

The Richmond papers this morning announced that only railway congestion incident to holiday traffic prevented the First Regiment from entraining for the border today, as originally ordered. They spoke with certainty of the movement of the troops southward tomorrow, with Brownsville, Texas, as the destination.

Regular foot-movements squad, and rifle drill will be resumed tomorrow by those of the men not incapacitaled by any of the series of innoculations they are undergoing—this of course in the absence of actual movement of the Virginia troops south. Two and one half hours of drill following mess at 6:30 a. m., and anther two and one half hours after lunch, is the camp routine. The men are picking up the drill movements rapidly and several squads have been commended by the officers for the readiness with which they have adapted themselves to a soldier's life.

Mexico Wants Satisfactory Solution of Issues With U. S.

MILITIA ON BORDER

American Soldiers Encounter Dust Storm, High Winds Sending Clouds Into Their Eyes

Mexico City, July 6.—Gen. Carranza received first word from a United Press cablegram that Secretary Lansing, after studying the Mexican reply, expressed a willingness to continue the negotiations.

The message, which reached the foreign office before the arrival of Minister Arredondo's official advices, was received with undisguised satisfaction by Foreign Secretary Aguilar.

"The Mexican government," said Aguilar, "invited the Government of the United States to continue the international negotiations in a spirit of frank cordiality to reach a satisfactory solution.

"It seems that the Government of the United States has accepted the proposition, animated by the same good will and desires as the Mexican government."

Columbus, N. M., July 6.—A portion of the Massachusetts and New Mexico militia stationed here may be sent into Mexico today as guards for motor truck trains to General Pershing's base camp near Colonia Dublan.

The trip across the border will be trying for the civilian soldiers. The smothering alkali dust kicked up by the trucks, the jolting over the rutty trail, and the desert sun has wilted the most hardened regulars on the first trip.

Yesterday the eastern militiamen got their first taste of a border dust storm. A high wind swept blinding clouds of the alkali dust through their camp throughout most of the day, filling the eyes of the men and causing them considerable suffering. Without goggles they could not leave their tents.

AUSTRIA WILL YIELD

Intimation That Satisfaction Will Be Given for Attack on Tanker

Washington, July 6—The State Department has received intimations from Vienna that the Austrian government will comply in full, but not promptly, with the demands made in the American rejoinder to the Austrian note in the Petrolite case.

The rejoinder to Austria, demanding an apology, punishment of the submarine commander who attacked the Standard Oil Tanker in the Mediterranean on December 5 last, and the payment of suitable reparation for confiscation of supplies on the American vessel, was made public by the State Department last week.

The Austrian commander's version was at complete variance with that of the American captain. The latter reported that he surrendered his boat's provisions, which were inadequate for his own ship to avoid further violence on the part of the submarine commander.

It is believed at the State Department, the belief being based on intimations from Vienna, that the American note will be referred to the Marine Department for a new investigation of the Petrolite case.

It is not believed by the administration that the note will strain the relations between the two governmens, and the State Department is confident that Austria will disavow the attack, declaring any injury done to the Americans or their property was unitentional; punish the submarine commander and pay an indemity.

Report Capture of One Thousand Prisoners—Berlin Minimizes German Losses

Petrograd, July 6—The Russians have cut the Delatyn-Korosmeze railway, the principal line of communications for the Austro-German forces defending Lemberg, and have routed the enemy on the right bank of the Dniester, according to an official statement issued by the War Office.

Berlin, July 6—Russian troops are again attacking the German line from Zirin to the region southeast of Baronovichi, in Lithuania, says the German official statement given out yesterday. Very stubborn hand to hand fighting is in progress, the announcement adds, and the Russians have either been repulsed or driven back from the place where they had broken into the German lines. The heaviest losses, it is added, were sustained by the Russians.

Petrograd, July 6—A total of 158 Russian officers and 23, 125 men were taken prisoners during the month of June along the line to the south of the Pripet where the Russians were pushing their offensive, according to the Austro-Hnugarian statement of July 1, received here from Vienna.

PULVERIZED TRENCHES.

Hundreds of Germans Believed to Have Been Buried Alive.

Press Camp British Headquarters in France, July 6—It is beyond the power of words to give a picture of the German trenches over the battlefield of Montauban, where we now hold a line through the wood and beyond.

Before Saturday it was a wide and farreaching network of trenches, with many communication ways strong traverses, and redoubts, so that one would shiver at their strength, if he were to see them, on a map.

No mass of infantry, however great, would have dared assault such a position with bombs and rifles It was a great underground fortress which any body of men could have held against any other, for all time, apart from the destructive power of heavy artillery.

Now, however, it is the most frightful convulsion of earth that the eyes of man could see. The bombardment has tossed all these earthworks into vast rubbish heaps. It has made the ground one vast series of shell craters, so deep and so broad that it is like a field of extinct volcanoes.

The British must have hurled hundreds if not thousands, of shells from their heaviest Howitzers and long range guns into this stretch of fields, until the bombardment had annihilated the German position.

Many of the dug-outs, going 30 feet below the surface of the earth, and strongly timbered and cemented, have been choked with masses of earth so tha perhaps hundreds were buried there alive.

Stephen Dolby, of White Haven, Md., and his wife's sister were probably fatally injured late Tuesday night when the automobile in which they were riding was demolished by an express train of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad.

GERMANY'S FUTURE

Prince Von Buelow, former German chancellor, has written a book called "German Policies," and in the preface the author discusses Germany's future and the form that a peace treaty must take in order to protect his country from the wrath of the allies in the coming years. To forestall their lust for revenge by gaining certain guarantees von Buelow regards as absolutely essential to the salvation of the German empire, "both as a recompense for the unheard of trials and sufferings we have endured and as a security for the future." Even as the British and French are found declaring that the result of the war must be positive, not negative, so, too, is von Buelow's conclusion. Simple re-establishment of the status quo ante bellum, he points out, would mean a loss, not a gain, when one considers the hatreds engendered by the war. Hence the need of gaining real securities in the peace settlement, the strengthening of political, economic and military powers that will enable the Germans to regard with equanimity the enmities on all sides. The author lays stress upon the importance of fostering a friendly feeling with those states "with which Germany did not cross swords, irrespective of whether the propaganda of the enemy press and enemy agitators influenced the feelings of the people against us during the war." The Richmond Journal says it is a canny Prince von Buelow. He recognizes the commercial necessity for the retention or restoring of friendly relations among "neutral" nations if Germany is to find a market for her industries. He cautions his people that "political necessities must disregard national likes and dislikes, even though they be justified." Evidently, the former chancellor had a transatlantic vision when he dictated that paragraph. Justification, however, is a term that is easier to employ than to prove. "Even those states with which Germany did not cross swords" may be difficult to placate in view of the many violations of their statutes by German officials in the spreading of war propaganda. Prince von Buelow's observations are chiefly interesting as reflecting what the Central bureau is undoubtedly thinking and planning. Clearly, Germany is in no position yet to attain those securities which von Buelow considers as requisite to her safety. And with the allies equally determined that the result of the war shall be similarly positive, it is patent that peace is still far distant.

The recent speech of former Ambassador Bryce shows that the allies are determined to fight on, not for the purpose of destroying Germany, but to destroy Prussian militarism.

THE AWFUL RESPONSIBILITY

Occasionally some one repeats the story of Bismarck when he realized that his earthly career was drawing to a close. At that time, when a vision of his past life was passing before him, he exclaimed: "I have caused the death of eighty thousand men. But God has forgiven me."

Job, when sighing over the fact that he had ever been born, cast his eye into the unseen world and exclaimed: "For now I should have lain still and been quiet with kings and counselors of the earth, which built desolate places for themselves."

The Chaldean patriarch is supposed to have referred to kings and conquerers who devastate the earth in order to gratify their aspirations and greed. Continuing Job said: "There the prisoners rest together; they hear not the voice of the oppressor. The small and great are there and the servant is fre from his master." Death is truly a great leveler.

A writer in a contemporary has the following to say in this connection:

Amidst all the controversies as to what nation was responsible for causing the fearful European holocaust we hear little of the real author of the [illegible] of Germany. Under the transient of pretexts he caused [illegible] the Emperor of Austria, to declare war upon Serbia, then threw hordes upon poor unoffending Belgium with the idea of absolutely crushing fair France, before her Allies were prepared to come to her assistance. And what for? Purely self aggrandizement and inordinate love of power. For these reasons the Kaiser plunged every country in Europe into untold sufferings and misery causing hundreds of thousands of men to be ruthlessly slaughtered, millions crippled and rendered useless encumbrances for life, and bringing torture of heart, mind and body to thousands upon thousands of innocent persons.

The havoc caused by this war will be felt by generations yet unborn. And yet people still ask, "Which was the country responsible for bringing about this fearful state of affairs? I answer, "no country, but one man and one man only." Wilhelm of Germany could have prevented this war by the raising of his index finger. An awful responsibility rests with him.

THE REPLY OF CARRANZA.

It is suggested that Secretary Lansing would do well to hold to his position as stated some time ago to the Bolivian representative minister; that the United States has nothing to mediate in its relations with Mexico, The Carranza note clearly states the problem, and this should be capable of solution without intermediaries and the sustaining of obligations that might prove to be unfortunate. The note sets forth the gist of the problem to be the presence of American troops upon Mexican soil, as both an infringement of Mexican sovereignty and as the cause of the conflict. The statement is neither accurate nor complete.

Conflicts were occurring prior to the dispatch of the punitive expedition, and the Carranza government had shown neither power nor disposition to abate them. The presence of the American troops in Mexico may no longer be desirable, but their presence was imperative, and they went there with explicit agreement of the Carranza government, despite efforts to hedge in this later one.

Now that the United States has massed its total forces upon the border, Carranza says he can see to the avoidance of further aggravating incidents. Thus ignoring the money outlay and use of men by the United States, which alone can prevent the recurrence of the disorders. Carranza proceeds to take credit to himself in advance and without the simplest recognition of the services of the United States in his behalf. The note is conciliatory, but far from satisfactory. Yet, as the United States is now in command of the situation, it doubtless, by direct negotiations, can arrive at some understanding by which Carranza will be less arrogant and permit the United States to complete its work. Under no circumstances should this country agree to any future limitations upon its freedom of action.

ALEXANDRIANS OFF FOR BORDER.

The long anticipated movement of the Virginia troops from Richmond to the Mexican border has begun, and trains are now rushing toward Brownsville, Texas, where the soldiers will within a few days be ready to meet eventualities. While the boys are being whirled south the war cloud which had hung ominously for some time, is disappearing, and the Virginians after having reached their objective point, may pass most of their time in camp as in Richmond with nothing more serious than the high temperature of that clime to combat.

Alexandria has her quota in this little army, and their relatives and friends will wait patiently to hear from them after they shall have reached Brownsville. But a few days have elapsed since they parted from their dear ones, when the residents of the city turned out in masse to bid the members of the Light Infantry good-bye.

Every city, town and village in Virginia is interested. Recruits have nobly responded in every section, and they carry with them the earnest prayers of the entire Old Dominion. Actual war with Mexico, seventy years ago, was of short duration, and most of the Alexandria boys returned unscathed. The skies are much brighter now than then. Let us hope the trip will prove more of an outing than anything else, and before autumn winds moan the young soldiers will have returned to their homes and dear ones.

GERMANY'S BAD GUESS.

(Baltimore American)

It has been remarked that no other move in the war has been so thoroughly ventilated as the new offensive of the British. That this abundant publicity was designed to deceive does not appear to have entered the minds of the German General Staff; hence, this governing military body of the Kaiser made a bad and fatal guess. If the Germans had ample reserves they might not have suffered severely from the first miss as to where the offensive would be carried on. But not having ample reserves it was impossible quickly to repair their mistake of judgment.

From a copy of German orders that the British found upon the field it is clear that the German strategists had figured upon the advance being attempted between Roye and Lille, Hence they massed here great batteries and reinforcement to meet the offensive of the foe with their full forces, adequately disposed and the best of its soldiers trained to a trigger. The offensive made at the point of conjunction with the French was a surprise. And the British are still mystifying their foe by powerful diversions from the real center—none of which would be especially disconcerting to the forces of the Kaiser, if these were in ample numbers to meet the offensive wherever it might brak out. Hence the first bad guess has queered the whole game for the Teutons.

NEWS OF THE DAY

W. D. Scarlett, an I. W. W. leader, and another leader named Scnmidt, were yesterday arrested in Virginia, Minn., charged with murder. It is understood that the charges have to do with the killing of two persons at Biwabik, where a strike of mine workers is in progress.

Bucharest dispatches state that the parties of Take Jonescu, former minister of the interior, and M. Filipesco, former minister of war and leader of the conservatives, have joined forces and in future will act together. Both parties are frankly in favor of intervention in the war by Roumania on the side of the entente allies.

People in Mexico are starving by hundreds, was declared by Duncan Bankhart, one of three American refugees arriving in New York Wednesday from Vera Cruz, on the liner Montserrat. "When I left Mexico City there was only enough food on hand to sustain the people for three weeks on short rations," he said.

It is said that the Kaiser has burst into tears several times recently, says the Petit Parisien. Intrigues, showing that things are not going well in Germany, are one cause of his grief, the newspaper asserts, and another is that the big men of the empire are showing a disposition to abandon him.

Gen. Ignacio Ramos was killed in a fierce and bloody battle that raged all Tuesday between a small force of de facto troops and a large band of Villa followers at Corral ranch, 15 miles southwest of Jiminez. Both sides soffered heavy losses.

New successes have been won by the Italians in their offensive in the Trentino, the Rome war office announces. They have occupied the summit of Monte Corno, northwest of the Pasubio, and captured the crest of Monte Sellugio. The Austrian resistance is increasing in several sectors, but various attempts at counter attacks, have been repulsed.

After completing an order of 1,250,000 eighteen-pound shrapnel shells for the British government in less than fifteen months from the time the order was received, and finding no more business of that kind in sight the Westinghouse Airbrake Company announces Wednesday in Pittsburgh, Pa., that preparations are under way to dismantle its munition-making plants sell the expensive machinery and let out nearly 2,500 men and girls who have been employed in that work.

The total number of prisoners taken thus far in the Anglo-French offensive probably has reached 15,000 Judging from these figures, the German losses, as a whole, it is estimated have been at least 60,000. The British have taken 11 guns. A German officer who surrendered 150 men in a body said he thought they would be of more use alive in Germany after the war than dead.

German and Austro-Hungarian losses of the past month total half a million men, according to figures presented by the Paris Matin. It states that the Russians have taken 232,300 unwounded prisoners, the Italians 4,700 and the Anglo-French forces 14,200. Multplying the total of prisoners by two to estimate the number of killed and wounded, it gets an aggregate of slightly more than 500,000, or more than twelve army corps.

According to Col. Joseph E. Gomez, of the Carranza army, who arrived at El Paso, Wednesday from Cuba, 100 machine guns and 20,000,000 rounds of ammunition bought by Germany in the United States to prevent the allies getting them have been turned over to the Carranza government. The guns and ammunition, Gomez says, were shipped to Cuba and thence to Tampico where they are now in possession of Carranza's army.

The American steamer Wilhemina, from New York for Rio de Janeiro, port via Barbados, was sunk Wednesday morning in a collision with the Brazilian naval transport Sargento Albuquerque. It is not believed that any lives were lost.

The estate left by the late Hetty Green, probably will total $125,000,000. It probably will be devided between her son, Col. Edward H. R. Green and her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks.

James Bourke, and his son, Arnold were instantly killed Wednesday when the automobile they had just bought was struck by a Pere Marquette passenger train near Port Huron, Mich.

Crashing into a freight train loaded with dynamite at Durbin, near Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday night the Overseas Limited Passenger train, of the Florida East Coast Railroad, caused the destruction of five freight cars and the engine of the passenger train. No one in the twelve heavily loaded coaches was seriously injured.

With new districts of, New York, invaded by the outbreak of infantile paralysis, the health department announced Wednesday that of the 600 persons afflicted with the disease, 150 have died, the rate of mortality being 25 per cent. Ninety-one new cases have been reported since Tuesday forenoon, a total of 157 cases since Monday noon.

In an automobile accident Wednesday morning on the State concrete road between Salisbury, Md., and Berlin Harry Bounds, of Mount Vernon, Somerset county, was killed and Talmage Dashiell, also of Mt. Vernon, was severely injured, Rounds was driving a touring car and in some manner lost control and drove head-on into a four-horse wagonload of iron pipe. The pipe extending from the wagon crushed Bounds and Dashiell, who were on the front seat, and a pipe destroyed one of Dashiell eyes. R. Bratton Bounds, the third occupant of the car, escaped with slight hurts.

From House to House the Good News Spreads

Many housewives have found a happy solution of the breakfast problem in New Post Toasties.

These new corn flakes are distinctive in that they bear a self-developed flavor all their own—the delicate, fascinating flavor of choice, white Indian corn. Un-like other flakes, they do not depend on cream and sugar to make them palatable.

Try a handful without cream and sugar—note the fine flavor and new form; also the tiny "bubbles" on each flake. These bubbles are a distinguishing characteristic and are produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of making, which also brings out the wonderful flavor.

Although the New Post Toasties are a great improvement in flavor and form, they cost no more than ordinary flakes. Have a package delivered for tomorrow's breakfast.

"Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done Wonders for Me"

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief,' writes Mrs. Anna Kadin, Spencerport, N. Y., "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable everywhere.

WHOOPING COUGH
One of the most successful preparations in use for this disease is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. S. W. McClinton, Blandon Springs, Ala., writes "Our baby had whooping cough as bad as most any baby could have it. I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it soon got him well." Obtainable everywhere.
